Acts of Public Rudeness is a chance for the Rude Mechanicals to stretch their wings, and break out a whole new set of skills. Play roles you've always wanted to do, but never got a chance. Test out a new work, or give directing a try. Come on out to see old friends in new ways, and maybe discover one of your own. It may turn into a new tradition for the Rudes.

The Rude Mechanicals thank Abiding Presence Lutheran Church and Theater Project Beltsville for generously welcoming our production into their space.

Support visual and performing arts in schools by contributing to Charis Center for the Arts' Indiegogo campaign. Your donation does make a difference and will provide small class instruction for a diverse student body in art, dance, drama, vocal music or instrumental music as well as experiences in musical theatre, set and costume design and performance.
